ABOUT

Ica City Tour

“ICA: A LAND OF HISTORY, DESERTS, AND CULTURE”

Ica, located on the southern coast of Peru, is a city of great historical and geographical importance. Surrounded by vast deserts, it is home to the famous Huacachina Oasis and towering sand dunes. Founded in 1563 during the colonial era, Ica became a key center for agriculture and viticulture, producing some of the best wines and piscos in Peru.

“UNLOCK THE SECRETS OF ANCIENT PERU AT ICA MUSEUM”

Step back in time at the Ica Regional Museum, where you'll uncover the rich history of ancient Peru. Discover pre-Inca artifacts, captivating images of the Nazca Lines, and ancient musical instruments. Marvel at the museum's well-preserved mummies and its incredible anthropological exhibits showcasing the achievements of early Peruvian cultures.

“PISCO: BORN IN ICA, CRAFTED BY TRADITION”

Discover the rich history of Pisco, Peru's iconic grape brandy, with a guided tour through traditional vineyards. Learn about the centuries-old process of making this renowned spirit, dating back to the 16th century. Enjoy tastings as you explore the scenic vineyards and meet the skilled local Pisco makers.

“EXPERIENCE THE STUNNING BEAUTY OF HUACACHINA”

Visit the breathtaking Huacachina Oasis, famous for its stunning water lagoon surrounded by towering sand dunes. This picturesque destination attracts adventure seekers from around the world. Here, you can experience the thrill of sandboarding down the massive dunes or simply relax by the serene lagoon. Whether you're seeking excitement or tranquility, Huacachina is a must-see gem in the heart of the Ica desert.

ICA CITY TOUR

Private Guided Tour of Ica

TOUR DESCRIPTION

Our excursion begins at 9:00 AM, with our local guide picking you up from your hotel. After a warm welcome, we will board our private vehicle and head straight to the Pisco vineyards. At the bodegas, you'll enjoy a delightful walking tour, guided by a knowledgeable local expert, as we delve into the fascinating world of this beloved Peruvian drink. Historically, Pisco has been produced since 1570, originally known simply as a spirit drink. It wasn't until the 17th century that it was officially named Pisco, inspired by the sight of countless sea birds along the Pacific coast near Paracas—a name derived from the Quechua word for “bird.” During our visit, you'll learn more about Pisco's rich heritage, explore the vineyard, and enjoy tastings in the main tasting room, where you can engage in conversation with the skilled Pisco makers.

Next, we will proceed to the Ica Regional Museum, a captivating venue that showcases the ancient cultures that thrived along the southern coast of Peru.

“Experience Ica’s Rich History, Culture, and Scenic Beauty”

We will begin by exploring the pre-Inca rooms, where you can admire exquisite textiles from the Paracas culture, along with remarkable artifacts from the Nazca civilization, including stunning musical instruments and depictions of the Nazca Lines. Additionally, you'll discover impressive weaponry and wood carvings from the Wari Empire, Ica Chinchá, and Inca cultures.

On the other side of the museum, we will visit the anthropological room, which features fascinating human remains from these ancient cultures. Here, you'll see deformed skulls, evidence of cranial surgery practiced by ancient Peruvians, beautifully crafted head-dresses, well-preserved mummies (including infants), and trophy heads.

Finally, we will drive southwest toward the breathtaking oasis of La Huacachina, a picturesque lagoon surrounded by towering palm trees and magnificent sand dunes. Here, you'll have the opportunity to enjoy lunch by the lagoon and, for the adventurous, climb one of the dunes to experience the thrill of sandboarding, one of Peru's most exciting outdoor activities. Finally our driver will drop you off at your hotel.
