TOUR DESCRIPTION

Your adventure begins at 08:00 h, with a pickup from your hotel in Nazca. From there, we'll embark on a scenic drive up into the Andes. As we ascend, you'll witness the landscape transform from arid coastal hills to lush high-altitude plateaus, offering breathtaking views along the way. At an elevation of 3000 meters, we'll start our search for the elusive Guanacos, rare and endangered camels that inhabit these Andean slopes. Continuing our journey upwards, we will reach the Pampas Galeras Vicuña National Reserve, located at 4200 meters above sea level. Upon arrival, our first stop will be a small museum where you'll learn about the unique wildlife of the region, including the evolutionary history of the Vicuñas and Guanacos.
